- An annual publication, showcasing the very best international contemporary jewellery design and offering innovative, original concepts
- Presents a panorama of projects from all over the world

Contemporary jewel is unquestionably the result of thousands of years of history and research, with present-day jewellers still using the same precious metals and stones as their predecessors, but without ceasing to renovate, reinvent and experiment with materials, techniques and concepts.

Jewelbook is the result of international teamwork, showing contemporary jewellery handcrafted by the world's finest modern jewellery artists. Jewelbook not only illustrates the most innovative works in contemporary jewellery, but also offers support to jewellery as a cultural expression of our time and is destined to become an important reference work in this field of art. A tool to make jewellers even more aware of what happens on an international level and to encourage the exchange of ideas and techniques.
