Milan – the epicentre of Italian fashion, art, and finance – awaits you at Expo 2015. 142 countries are participating in this modern world's fair. 20 million visitors are expected, most of whom will storm the city's famous sights along with the Expo's pavilions and exhibits. This unconventional guidebook will tell you how to avoid endless crowds and queues, and instead track down the enthralling and little-known places that are hidden throughout this exciting metropolis: Try the best Italian food – in a supermarket! Explore the private studios of famous designers! Discover a flock of flamingos in a backyard garden! Go beyond La Scala and the Duomo, the Navigli and the Golden Triangle of Fashion, to uncover Milan's best kept secrets.

Journalist Giulia Castelli Gattinara and photographer Mario Verin share their lives, their work, and their love for travel. Their work has appeared in the most important Italian magazines and newspapers (Geo, Bell Italia, La Repubblica, La Stampa, and many others). Both are mountain climbers, which provides them with a very special view of the world and of Milan, where they have been living for 25 years.
