- An invaluable source of information on the practice of total intravenous anaesthesia (TIVA) with or without target-controlled infusion (TCI) technology

An Overview of TCI and TIVA was written by two of the leading lights in anaesthetic pharmacology. It is an invaluable source of information on the practice of total intravenous anaesthesia (TIVA) with or without target-controlled infusion (TCI) technology. In this long-awaited third edition of their popular book they have maintained the small size while thoroughly updating it to include recent developments and insights in the field, many of which have emerged from the work of their own research group. The fine balance between the provision of practical information to promote safe and effective clinical practice, with information on the scientific and theoretical foundations, will benefit and stimulate novice and more experienced TIVA users alike.

Anthony R. Absalom is Professor of Anaesthesiology at the University Medical Centre Groningen, Groningen University. Michel MRF Struys is Professor and Chair at the Dept. of Anaesthesiology, University Medical Center Groningen, Groningen University and Professor at the Dept. of Basic and Applied Medical Sciences, Ghent University.
