

Arassociati Milanese Architecture

Anna Mainoli

ISBN	9788855210904
Publisher	Forma Edizioni
Binding	Hardback
Territory	World
Size	300 mm x 240 mm
Pages	240 Pages
Illustrations	100 color, 30 b&w
Price	£55.00

- This book illustrates the extensive design and construction work in Milan over the past 20 years by the notable Milanese architectural firm ARAssociati
- Text in English and Italian

This book illustrates the extensive design and construction work in Milan over the past 20 years by the notable Milanese architectural firm ARAssociati. This award-winning firm has been involved in a wide range of projects, including new construction in the residential, hospitality, office and retail sectors, as well as work on prestigious historic buildings. Projects in the historical heart of the city are counterbalanced by those in the new areas of Milan, which is undergoing a transformation to a multicentric metropolis. The result is an expertise based on a deeply rooted knowledge of the city and its history, sensitive to the context and stratification over time, allowing the firm to retrace and map out the large-scale transformations that have changed and are still changing the face of Milan.

Text in English and Italian.

Anna Mainoli is a consultant, publishing editor and curator for cultural events; She edited the book, The Design City. Milan, extraordinary Lab, with Marco Sammiceli for Forma Edizioni and the Salone del Mobile. She is co-editor for the Corriere della Sera series of monographs Lezioni di Architettura e Design and Architetture e interni urbani - in collaboration with Politecnico University in Milan. She has edited numerous publications dedicated to architecture and design, as well as a number of monographs.