It's after hours at the Ashmolean Museum, but inside the galleries, the magic has only just begun. Because each night, as darkness falls, the art and archaeology within wakes up, and pictures and objects become gateways to amazing destinations – the moments in time when each was found, or made! There are two curious creatures who live in the Museum, and they love to time-travel through its galleries.

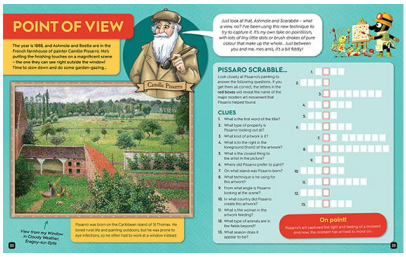

Suitable for children in Key Stage 2, aged 7-11 years.

Alicia Williamson is a writer, editor and researcher, currently working on children's books with Dynamo Ltd, in Exeter.Mini Grey is a British illustrator and writer of children's books, especially picture books for young children.
