

Back to Eden: Dressed & Undressed

Photographs by Lionel Daviet

ISBN	9782487507241
Publisher	Editions Florentin
Binding	Hardback
Territory	World excluding France & Morocco
Size	330 mm x 250 mm
Pages	308 Pages
Illustrations	300 color
Price	£120.00

- Artificial intelligence at the service of beauty
- The unique works of photographer Lionel Daviet
- The special 'lenticular' nature of the special cover features a model which will appear either dressed or undressed, depending on the angle of the view

The most chic glamour photographer of the moment (Him, Playboy France in particular) Lionel Daviat returns with a new book in which he fulfills the fantasy we've all experienced: wearing glasses that undress. The result is breathtaking, with a refined erotic aesthetic.

A multitude of beautiful models in more or less daring situations: in beautiful apartments, on ski slopes, or even in the street!

The special 'lenticular' nature of the special cover features a model which will appear either dressed or undressed, depending on the angle of the view.

Lionel Daviet, who lives on the shores of Lake Annecy near Geneva, trained in film photography, became a master of chic digital photography, and harnessed the infinite resources of AI better than anyone else in the world to enhance charm, creativity, and beauty. The result: photos that are larger than life.

Text in English and French.

Lionel Daviet is a French glamour photographer living in the Geneva region who has produced several books. He collaborates with Playboy and Lui magazines, among others. He uses new technology to enhance his erotic photos.