

Building Community: The Work of Eskew+Dumez+Ripple

Reed Kroloff

Introduction by William R. Morrish

Contributions by Alex Krieger

Contributions by Lawrence Scarpa

ISBN	9780982622629
Publisher	ORO Editions
Binding	Hardback
Territory	World excluding USA, Canada, Australasia. Asia non-exclusive.
Size	279 mm x 229 mm
Pages	233 Pages
Illustrations	Illustrations (chiefly col.)
Price	£38.50

Building Community: The Work of Eskew+Dumez+Ripple celebrates the 25th anniversary of the New Orleans-based firm. Eskew+Dumez+Ripple believes that a building is an expression of both the process by which design decisions are made, and the program to which the building must adhere its size, function, and context, as well as cost and construction time. The text will trace the development of EDR's progressive architecture practice operating in the deeply traditional American Gulf South, and discuss the rich architectural heritage of both New Orleans and surrounding regions. Eskew+Dumez+Ripple is a design-driven studio which produces diverse projects in architecture and planning by blending a signature collaborative process with professional talent, creative thinking and emerging technologies. Based in New Orleans, the firm uses the cultural and architectural heritage of the city as a platform for a practice of national range and recognition. The result is a vibrant portfolio that includes aquariums, research laboratories, marine facilities, interpretative centers and museums as well as office buildings, academic and health care facilities. Five Firm Directors lead the studio of professionals, promoting design excellence, efficient project delivery, and mastery of technical construction systems. We advocate environmental sustainability, elegant craftsmanship of materials and spirited collaboration with each one of their clients.