"There's a strong belief, now more than ever, that creativity really has the potential to change the world, and that only innovative thinking can tackle some of the world's biggest challenges." - Senta Slingerland

As one of the most diverse and admired cities in the world, London is a playground for creative people, entrepreneurs and innovators. This book portrays the people who are changing the way Londoners move around and go out; what they eat, drink and read; and how they are coiffed, dressed and entertained. Discover how Asif Khan is inspiring a new future for architecture in the city, how Josh Cole is getting the Jewish queer scene dancing, and how Honey Spencer is converting us to drinking natural wines. Read about how Petra Barran is making the streets of London taste better and how Fabien Riggall is reinventing the way we experience cinema. Get to know the people who are making London one of the most interesting cities in the world. City Shapers London is the must-have book for those who want to change the rules of the game or learn from the influencers who did it before them.
