- The Oregon Historical Society is dedicated to making Oregon's long, complex history visible and accessible to all
- A vast collection of artefacts, photographs, films, manuscripts, books and oral histories
- Published in conjunction with Oregon Historical Society's permanent exhibit, Experience Oregon

For more than a century The Oregon Historical Society (OHS) has served as the state's collective memory, gathering and preserving a vast collection of artefacts, photographs, films, manuscripts, books and oral histories. This vivid selection illuminates the depth of Oregon's history; a history too rich to be contained within a single story or point of view. Published in conjunction with OHS's permanent exhibit, Experience Oregon, this illustrated companion provides a glimpse of the countless people, places and events that have made the state of Oregon what it is today.

Diane Pelrine, PhD, former Raymond and Laura Wielgus Curator of the Arts of Africa, Oceania, and the Americas at the Eskenazi Museum of Art.
