We all have talents, but we don't always know what they are. As a result, talent is sometimes a difficult concept to grasp – but one that we need to understand if we are to make the most of our lives. This illustrated card set for young talent helps children to get to know themselves, and sets them on the path for discovering and engaging their particular talents. In a playful and informative process, the cards from the booklet are detached and shuffled. Find out whether a child's talent presents as an unstoppable Boundary Pusher, a genuine Fair Play Promoter, or an invincible Error Eagle! Understanding their unique talent profile will help children with choices at school, at home, with friends and family.

Luk Dewulf is an expert on positive psychology and personal talent development. He is a sought-after speaker, and a widely-published talent and burn-out coach. In his work, he focuses on finding ways to unleash strength and potential in individuals, organisations and children. Peter Beschuyt is an academic, and an advisor at Kessels & Smit, The Learning Company. As a process manager and advisor, he supports organisations and schools in the development and implementation of a talent-oriented organisational policy.Els Pronk is a children's coach and the founder of Grootsklein, in which she supports children in the development of their talent.
