- A volume of photographs by Maria Luisa Gaetani, taken on her most recent trip to Iran

Iran – known as Persia until 1935. The country is among the most loaded with history in the entire Asian continent. The cradle of ancient civilisations, it was the scene of events and changes that irreversibly modified the history of humanity. This beautiful volume of photographs by Maria Luisa Gaetani, who, on the occasion of her most recent trip to Iran, has been able to capture, with a rare sensitivity, the shapes and colours of the country. Not only cities and buildings, but also human faces and glimpses of everyday life. Text in English and Italian.
