

Istanbul: On the Road Architecture Guides

Edited by Francesca Filosa

ISBN	978885210843
Publisher	Forma Edizioni
Binding	Paperback / softback
Territory	World
Size	160 mm x 115 mm
Pages	224 Pages
Illustrations	97 color, 84 b&w
Name of series	On the Road Architecture Guides
Price	£19.90

- The latest guidebook in the On the Road series explores contemporary architecture in the Turkish capital
- Thumbnail illustrations of all the sites are printed on the inside of the removable cover, along with a map noting the location of each building
- Includes an index of architects, and an index of projects

This curated guide to contemporary building design in Istanbul explores new architectural directions and urban development in Turkey's largest and most visited city. In addition to 86 itineraries that feature a selection of both contemporary and historic buildings, the guide includes critical essays that provide an analysis of Istanbul's history, urban planning, and future. In this latest addition to the On the Road series, the author examines how social and cultural changes have reframed the dialogue between traditional Turkish architecture and the new demands of contemporary design. A fascinating tour of a fast-changing city.

Francesca Filosa was awarded her Masters degree in architecture in 2018 from the "Luigi Vanvitelli" faculty in Antwerp. She has participated in numerous international architectural design competitions and has won several awards. In 2019 she worked in the London branch of the renowned firm Zaha Hadid Architects. At present, she works as an architect while studying for her PhD in "Architettura. Teoria e progetto" at La Sapienza University in Rome.