- A full-colour yearbook depicting daily life and 'behind the scenes' activities at a major Department of Architecture

The full colour yearbook by the Department of Architecture at the Lucerne University of Applied Sciences and Arts presents a major panorama not only of everyday work at the school, but also the activities behind the scenes and in peripheral areas. It presents student projects, as well as work from the studios and offices of the Lecturers and Assistants. For once, the book does without any texts, instead focussing radically on images.
