- Numerous competition successes led to a wealth of public buildings with a high level of architectural quality

Following long periods of employment at Herzog & De Meuron, Philipp Kim and Thomas Strebel have managed their own office in Aarau since 2006. Numerous competition successes led to a wealth of public buildings with a high level of architectural quality. The buildings always reflect the programme specifications and the location, while transforming those parameters into powerful, expressive and inventive buildings.

Text in German with extra sheet with English translation.
