- Presents Hiéronyme Lacroix and Simon Chessex's student housing development close to the Geneva railway lines that represents exemplary urban architecture

In 2013, Hiéronyme Lacroix and Simon Chessex produced a student housing development close to the Geneva railway lines that represents exemplary urban architecture, with subtle nuances and a convincing resonance of the location's dynamic atmosphere. Before and afterwards, they designed smaller residential developments and larger conversions of refined quality.

Text in English and German.
