- Fun yet substantive nonfiction for ages 7 and up — great for reluctant readers
- Written in a fan's voice, by former college quarterback Tyler Blue

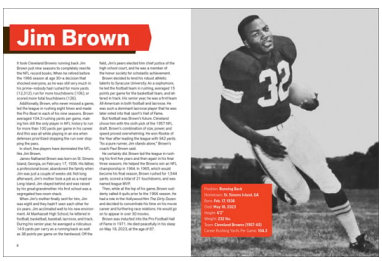

An action-packed book on the biggest stars in NFL history.

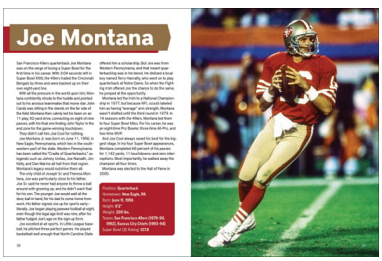

Legends of the NFL profiles 28 top retired players, from the gridiron greats of past generations, like Joe Montana and Jim Brown, to recent superstars like Randy Moss and Tom Brady. Filled with fascinating stories about these legends' early lives, their unique playing styles, and their defining moments on the field, this book will delight young football fans. It is illustrated throughout with colourful photographs and also includes each player's key stats.

Legends of the NFL joins Abbeville's growing lineup of sports books for young readers, including Stars of the NFL, Legends of the NBA, Stars of World Soccer, and Legends of Major League Baseball.

Tyler Blue is a senior news brief editor for The ABIS Group. The former college football player and avid sports fan has journalism degrees from both the University of Dayton and Northwestern University. He currently resides in Silver Spring, Maryland, with his wife and four young children.
