- Exclusive watch portraits with technical, material, and design details – including background knowledge on watchmaking, brand history, and current trends
- Insights into collector culture through expert interviews
- Curated by an international advisory board

Watches are more than mere instruments of time – they are design objects, investments, and expressions of personal style. Advised by an international panel of experts, Masterpieces of Time showcases the most exciting models and developments of the year. From legendary maisons to innovative newcomers, the book explores technical trends as well as shifts in the pre-owned market. With exquisite photography offering exclusive insights into movements, design processes, and artisanal craftsmanship, this volume is complemented by in-depth articles, background features, and iconic timepieces. A must-have for anyone with a passion for mechanical masterpieces.

Jan Lehmmaus is a freelance journalist specialising in watches, jewellery, and lifestyle. He regularly visits watch manufactures in Switzerland, Germany, and Japan. His articles are published in renowned media outlets such as Welt am Sonntag's Uhren-Magazin, Tweed, and Robb Report.
