Starting from the Icarus myth of antiquity, Miriam Vlamming (*1971) has created a new group of works in which she brings mankind's ancient dream of flying and freedom together with excessive human hubris: phantomlike figures move through dreamlike landscapes and scenery. In a dizzying frenzy, with a groundless pull into the close range and the farthest distance, Miriam Vlamming creates a fantastical pictorial world between presence and absence, history and present.

The book contains the DVD Miriam Vlamming. Vor Tür und Wand (2018), a 40 minute film by Manuel Dorn.
