- Showcases the work of two St. Gallen architects, Christian Oestreich and Peter Schmid

The conversion of a small residential and studio building in several stages is the highly elaborate transformation of a modest home. The two St. Gallen architects Peter Oestreich and Markus Schmid ultimately gained their reputation through the intelligently conceived triple sports hall in Mörschwil, as well as the residential and nursing centre in Flawil, which is coherently integrated into the village structure.

Text in English and German.
