Oxid Architektur focuses on climatically and socially sustainable architecture, continuing the building-culture value system appropriated by burkhalter sumi architekten. In ever new interdisciplinary work groups, the team contributes to a building culture that continues to build on existing structures wherever possible, while using wood construction wherever sensible. Recently, the Waldacker housing development won an award during the Prix Lignum 2024, while the Ghiringhelli housing project won 2nd Prize at the constructive alps awards 2023.

Text in English and German.
