New York attracts more than 60 million visitors every year. Every single one of them experiences their stay in the incomparable cosmopolitan city on the Hudson in their own unique way. As a result: There is no such thing as one New York, whether for travellers or cosmopolitans of all stripes.

Streets of New York reveals the immense diversity of the Big Apple by showing the city from different perspectives. More than 40 contemporary photographers, many of whom are also active on social media, present their specific view of the metropolis they love. In Streets of New York, images of world-famous landmarks such as the World Trade Center Transportation Hub, the Empire State Building and the Brooklyn Bridge alternate with photographs of hidden treasures – lesser-known but equally interesting areas of the city, captured by photographers with a modern eye for urban detail. A modern declaration of love to the city that never sleeps.

MENDO's passion for clear design reflects the experience of its founders, Roy Rietstap and Joost Albronda. Since 2002, their concept store has captivated style-conscious book lovers. The 2017 collaboration with teNeues created synergies: an international publisher joins forces with Amsterdam designers to showcase premium books in a unique, book-based store.
