After graduating in illustration at IED in Milan, Claudia Bordin taught for five years Art and Image in primary schools, while devoting herself to drawing. Working with children and with their "worlds", which expressed imagination in their thoughts and drawings, made her desire to release her imagination too. So now she works, as an illustrator, with some publishing houses and communication agencies and is also involved in custom-made wedding stationery. Five years ago she founded Mondo Mombo: a logo, a stage name, but, above all, a virtual world where she uses her illustrative skills for new ideas and projects.
