- For style-conscious people who value individuality and luxury
- Immerse yourself in a life of luxury, where you can afford things you can only dream of
- Thanks to its high-quality design, the book itself is the ultimate toy that you would love to put on your coffee table

The brands and manufacturers presented in this coffee table book stand for authenticity, origin and craftsmanship. Many of them look back on decades, in some cases centuries, of tradition and yet are contemporary because they do not follow the spirit of the times, but help to shape it. From the finely crafted John Lobb shoemaker in London to the iconic Royal Oak by Audemars Piguet, from the calm silhouette of an Anderson & Sheppard suit to the bespoke shaving culture of Larusmiani. This book is not intended as a shopping guide or status catalogue. Rather, it is a visual curatorial compendium that invites you to linger. The selection is deliberately personal and subjective, but never arbitrary: icons from the art of watchmaking, bespoke clothing, automotive culture, stationery, cuisine, grooming, accessories and design.
