- This book utilises beautiful watercolours and endearing characters to tell a story that's familiar in many households with small children
- Parents will sympathise with Mum and Papa Wolf's attempts at sending Howie to sleep

Everyone wakes up when the sun rises and everyone goes to bed when the sun goes down at the end of the day, well , nearly everyone...

Howie, a wolf cub, is always the last to wake up, he dozes through school lessons and he is always looking to find a cozy place for a little nap. But when the sun sets he has trouble getting to sleep... and drives his family and all the animals of the forest crazy. Read this charming story to find out why, and see what tricks his dad will use to make him sleep.

Jack Tow is the pen name of a Milanese art historian, who not only studies art but loves to practice it! His watercolours have graced two small books by Officina Libraria: 'Versailles in Watercolours' and 'The Sforza Castle'. Amélie Gale is the pen name of an Italian publisher and art historian. She has a beautiful cat but also loves animals on paper(she is the mind behind 'The Well-Read Cat' by Officina Libraria).
