"We make treasures for people who long for beauty, wonder and spectacle" - Jeroen Lemaitre "Stuffed animals have become the lingua franca of a contemporary Game of Thrones-ish design evocation of the mythical, the eldritch and the cabinet of curiosities" - The Guardian Aren't we all rendered speechless by the ultimate beauty that nature has to offer? Don't we all want to capture it and indulge in these images forever? To capture animals in all their glory in such a way that it shows every flamboyant, scintillating detail is a delicate art. This book gives an overview of the history, the myths and the symbolism, the process, the most wonderful collections and interiors, decorated as true Wunderkammern, and the craftsmen and artists from past and present who elevated taxidermy to fine art. The standard edition is also available: Wonders are Collectible ISBN 9789401434652

Jeroen Lemaitre (1987) is a young man from Leuven whose talent was discerned in 2014 by the Musee des Arts Decoratifs, a museum of the decorative arts and design in Paris. Since then, he has worked under the label of Animaux Speciaux (www.animauxspeciaux.be/artist/jeroen-lemaitre) progressing further with his creations using animals, insects and butterflies from the tropics.
