- Amsterdam in a whole new light
- Unique photography where the use of natural light creates completely original images
- Gosse Bouma is rapidly making a name for himself in the (inter)national photography world
- The book appears just before the start of the anniversary year of 'Amsterdam 750 years'

Gosse Bouma, who is making a name for himself in the world of art photography as a master of light, shares his unique vision of Amsterdam in his first book. In his work, Gosse works under natural conditions, shedding a new light on the city he loves so much. InA New Light on Amsterdam, Gosse takes you through the city in different atmospheres – from the misty old city center to the morning light in Amsterdam's beautiful parks. Iconic buildings, raucous metro stations and picturesque cityscapes: this large-format book surprises with every photo, showing a serene, sometimes melancholic Amsterdam.

Gosse Bouma is an award-winning photographer and videographer who draws inspiration from the world around him: the unexpected lines coming together, the mist drifting by at just the right moment. This creates picturesque, sometimes otherworldly scenes. Gosses' work has reached millions of people around the world and receives international recognition. Moreover, a selection of his photographs has been exhibited at the renowned Grachtenmuseum in Amsterdam.
