

Authenticity and Replication

The Real Thing in Art and Conservation

Rebecca Gordon

ISBN	9781904982999
Publisher	Archetype Publications
Binding	Paperback / softback
Territory	USA & Canada
Size	6.88 in x 9.63 in
Pages	194 Pages
Name of series	The Value of Authenticity and Replication for Investigation and Conservation
Price	$90.00

- The concept of authenticity is one of the core factors driving decision making. Papers in this volume examine five key areas of discussion

New approaches towards interpretation, display and use of collections by the cultural heritage sector has made the roles of curators, conservators, art historians, and conservation scientists increasingly complex. Advances in conservation science provide increasing amounts of information about the tangible properties of objects, while the intangible and conceptual qualities, of contemporary and non-western artifacts in particular, also influence the work of the museum professional. The concept of authenticity is one of the core factors driving decision making. Papers in this volume examine five key areas of discussion: modern materials; the value of authenticity and replication; concept, practices and results of technical examination; enhancing the value of collections; connected histories: making, meaning, interpretation.