They're missing a door, or the paint has chipped away, they're full of dents and scratches. All the while, we're taken back to a time when we could lose ourselves in our own world of playtime for hours on end. This wonderful homage to our childhood companions is intended for anyone who plays or has played with these kids' room heroes – it is the perfect tribute for those of you who see a toy car as more than object to pass the time and ultimately be forgotten in some dusty attic.
