Copenhagen is a city of contrasts. Historic yet forward-looking, understated yet influential, intimate yet internationally admired. Over the past decades, the Danish capital has emerged as a global reference point for design, gastronomy, architecture, fashion, and urban living. From iconic landmarks and innovative neighborhoods to celebrated restaurants, independent boutiques, harbor baths, and cultural institutions, this book explores the many facets of contemporary Copenhagen. Through the people, places, and ideas that shape the city today, it offers a portrait of a destination whose influence extends far beyond its modest size.

Mads Arlien-Søborg is one of Denmark's leading trend researchers and lifestyle experts, renowned for his deep insights into design, architecture, and consumer culture. With a master's degree in Modern Culture and Cultural Communication from the University of Copenhagen, he has built a multifaceted career as a trend forecaster, design consultant, journalist, and television host.
