- Published to celebrate the opening of the Denver Art Museum's newly renovated campus
- Featuring highlights from a collection of over 70,000 works

Published to celebrate the opening of the Denver Art Museum's newly renovated campus, this stunning volume highlights masterworks from the museum's global art collection. Founded in 1893, the Denver Art Museum is now one of the largest art museums between Chicago and the West Coast. Featuring around 70,000 works, the collection represents cultures from Africa and Asia to Europe and Oceania, from the ancient past to the present day. Housed in landmark buildings by Daniel Libeskind and Gio Ponti, the museum also showcases work by regional artists, and provides invaluable ways for the community to learn about the world.

Christoph Heinrich is the Frederick and Jan Mayer Director at Denver Art Museum.
