Beirut born and based visual artist and creative director Eli Rezkallah founded the visual arts magazine Plastik in 2009. It was unlike anything that had been produced in the Middle East previously, with photographs of drag queens, nudity, bold color, dramatic staging, and cutting edge visual stories by himself and other artists. In addition to the magazine, Plastik is now a studio, a gallery, and a social media presence. This book is a best-of celebration of Eli Rezkallah's work from Plastik, capturing his accessible, provocative, and socially astute work in a single volume.

"Plastik's gift to the world is beauty, colour, magic and imagination. The gift is more important today than ever before." RuPaul

Eli Rezkallah is an all-round creative. Not only is he a fine-art photographer (he's exhibited all over the world from Beirut to Bangkok), video director and visual artist, he's also the founder and creative director of Plastik Magazine (which has over a million followers on Instagram), Plastik Studios and Plastik Gallery.
