Music is the message! This colorful, interactive calendar offers a new song line every day from vocal artists that you love, and much more.

Timeless, smash hits, one-hit wonders, catchy tunes, golden oldies, all-time faves or chart breakers – they all have lyrics that inspire, move, or motivate us. Sometimes the lyrics lend themselves to reflection, sometimes to singing along. Each calendar page is exclusively designed with the fonts that were created in the respective year of the song's release.

On the front, each song quote has its matching Spotify link for instant listening, and on the back, information about the song itself.

OA Krimmel is an art director and writer. One of his great passions is pop culture. He has already published several books on this subject, including on Klaus Kinski, Lorient and Charles Wilp. His design agency i_d buero has received numerous international awards, including for typography and calendar design. Many designers from the agency's 30-year history have contributed to this calendar.
