- A photographic celebration of 68 of London's most iconic and innovative council buildings

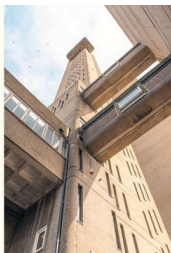

From Brutalist blocks to Modernist towers, this book is a visual celebration of 68 of London's most iconic council estates, reminding us of the pride, thought and innovation that went into designing these socially vital buildings.

Jack Young, a digital product designer by day, spends his weekends photographing London's council estates for his Instagram Page @thecouncilhouse.

01 Trellick Tower

This tower of concrete and steel is a landmark of Brutalist architecture. It was designed by the architect Alison Smithson and built by the architect's son, Peter Smithson. The tower is a prime example of the 'brut' style, which emphasizes the raw materials of concrete and steel. The tower is a landmark of Brutalist architecture and is a prime example of the 'brut' style.
