TITLE INFORMATION
Tel: +1 212 645 1111
Email: ussales@accartbooks.com
Web: https://www.accartbooks.com/us

The Story of Blue

Katy Kelleher

ISBN	9781917719476
Publisher	Hoxton Mini Press
Binding	Hardback
Territory	USA & Canada
Size	5.1 in x 7.1 in
Pages	208 Pages
Illustrations	150 color
Name of series	Colour Stories
Price	$19.95

- Premium Design / Sprayed Edges: Features high-quality blue sprayed edges that complement the book's design, enhancing its appeal as a gift edition and a collectible for display.

From sacred pigments and royal robes to blue jeans and the endless sky, this beautifully illustrated book explores the history of the world's favorite color. An engaging essay traces blue's changing meanings across art, religion, science, and popular culture, from the ancient world to today, followed by a gallery celebrating the color in all its forms and shades. A perfect gift for anyone curious about the stories hidden within color.

Katy Kelleher is an art, design, nature, and science writer. She is the author of The Ugly History of Beautiful Things (2024). Her essays on color have been published in The Awl and The Paris Review, where she wrote a popular column on color for years. Katy lives in Maine, USA.

Publish date 16th Feb 2027