Attractive gift book. Well known personalities and characters in contemporary history. Illustrated with sharp wit

• A contemporary and humorous collection of various VIPs

Everyone is a VIP, in their own way – what counts is the personality. Based on this idea, the illustrator Miri Lee presents around 60 varieties of VIPs, simply by replacing the word "Important" with other adjectives beginning with the letter "I" and illustrating them with sharp wit. The result is a contemporary and humorous collection of various VIPs, from "Very Ignorant" to "Very Insane" and "Very Intelligent".

Miri Lee, born in 1986 in South Korea, is an illustrator and communications designer. She studied at the Kaywon School of Art & Design, then studied communication design at Constance University. The book was put together as part of a project series by design students at Constance University for the Year of Justice 2015 in Constance.
