- A stunning monograph on the works of a well-respected and award-winning Chinese interior design company
- An insight into what the Chinese interior design market appreciates

This book presents carefully selected projects, executed by the Matrix team over the last three years. The projects can be divided into several categories: living spaces, office spaces, clubs, sales centers, and other public spaces. Their design concepts, functional design, and construction technology not only offers designers new inspiration, but also provides a rich sensory experience for design enthusiasts.

More than twenty outstanding projects, with exquisite color photographs and detailed descriptions, bring the reader unprecedented visual feasts. In addition to the great number of photographs, there is an abundance of floor plans.

In recent years, Matrix has won dozens of national and international awards, including: the British Andrew Martin awards (the “Oscar” of the interior design industry), IIDA Global Interior Design Awards by the American International Interior Design Association, and Asia-Pacific Interior Design Awards.
